Every semester, the Korean Studies program organizes Korean language classes only for our major students. The Korean language class of the program is non-credit and voluntary program. Depending on the demands of its students, the program organizes one or two classes in beginners' and intermediate levels. The class schedule will be decided by participants and teachers. Students can decide whether they want to use the program or not. Since second semester in 2016, the Korean Studies Program offers the Reading Room (International Education Building #608) for our major students.

■ Study Abroad

The University has extensive global networks for student exchange, so students can apply for the exchange program. Also, the Korean Studies is now trying to develop its own exchange partnership with other Korean Studies programs in Germany, Japan, and the USA. Also, students can join Summer Faculty-led program by enrolling summer course, Seminar Abroad: Theory and Practice in Global Korean Studies.
